Highlights this Month
Intergenerational Lunch, February 3
Shabbat Ne'imah, February 15
Dear Friends,

As Jews, it is our (delightful) duty to study the Talmud. When we do so, we might discover that, from time to time, the rabbis who form its cast of characters break off into the contending sides of what has all the hallmarks of a university debate society. As in such rarefied fight-clubs, a motion is resolved and the opposing teams must argue whichever side of the issue either appeals to them directly, or has been assigned to them for defense. (Generally, in the case of the Talmud, it seems to be the former, though I wouldn’t put it past them to cherish disagreement for its own sake.)

Often, these resolutions are philosophical “big picture” questions, for example: should God have gone through all the trouble to create us in the first place, given all the trouble we cause. (With a tart flourish of rabbinic pessimism, they decide the answer is “no”, but add a caveat in the spirit of the great Marvin Gaye line: “Since we’ve got to be here, let’s live!”)

An equally famous, and far more upbeat, contention rages around the question: which is more important? “Study” (the Hebrew word is Midrash)? Or “action” (Ma’aseh)? Here, the conclusion also comes in the form of a mediated compromise. Midrash is more important, they decide, because it leads to Ma’aseh.

I’ve spent time reflecting on what was intended by balancing the matter in this particular way. On the one hand, Midrash, taking a retreat from the bustling world for the contemplation of sacred texts, is given precedence over Ma’aseh, the actual performance of deeds--by which they mean mitzvot, religiously significant action. But, on the other hand, the preeminence of Midrash is expressed only in terms of its efficacy in creating the basis for the doing of Ma’aseh, so doesn’t that mean that Ma’aseh is really more important?

As with any good Jewish conundrum, the answer to all of these questions is: yes! Our study of tradition is meant to inspire us to do the right thing in the world. Without that component, to pile on my pejoratives, we are navel-gazing in an ivory tower. But our tradition also theorizes that our deeds are weak and shallow if they are not informed by a process of holy contemplation--if we don’t, at available and appropriate intervals, also step away from doing in order to think over and meditate upon our motivations.

One of the great names for a Jewish gathering place is Beit Midrash--the house of Midrash. I hope that you experience our community as just such a place of inquiry into the basis for doing the right thing, and that you go out the door full of inspiration to act upon what you have discovered.

b’shalom, Rabbi Benjamin Weiner

Adult Reading Group

The third meeting of the JCA ARG will be on Thursday, March 7 in the JCA library at 7:30 pm. The book is The Weight of Ink by Rachel Kadish. It has been described as, “Electrifying and ambitious, sweeping in scope and intimate in tone, The Weight of Ink is a sophisticated work of historical fiction about women separated by centuries, and the choices and sacrifices they must make in order to reconcile the life of the heart and mind.” JCA book group first timers, and old timers, are welcome. Any questions, please call Ken Talan, 413-896-3372.

Mazal Tov to February Bat Mitzvah Cara Kingston

Cara Rose Kingston, daughter of Talya and Chris, and sister of Ben, will be called to the Torah on the occasion of her Bat Mitzvah on Saturday, February 23rd, the 18th of Adar, 5779. She will read from parshat Ki Tisa. Cara attends Amherst Regional Middle School. She has attended JCA School since first grade, and has spent many summers at Camp Shemesh. Cara enjoys creative writing, playing the ukulele, and running her neighborhood pet sitting business. Cara loves dogs and music. In preparing for her Bat Mitzvah, she has been studying with her tutor, Marvin Ellin, and has participated in the intergenerational programming at the JCA, as well as helping to prepare meals for community dinners.

Shaḥarit Minyan
Tuesdays at 7:30 am in the small sanctuary
Dear JCA Families,

It's that time of year when we start to think about another exciting summer at Camp Shemesh. This year, camp will be led by Joelle Simon, our B'nai Mitzvah class teacher, and chef extraordinaire. If you want to get to know her before camp starts, feel free to stop into the kitchen any third Friday of the month when she is leading JV Corps in cooking for Shabbat Ne'imah, or join her and myself on the first Friday of the month, cooking for Family Friday Night.

We have been honored once again to receive a campership grant from the Harold Grinspoon Foundation (HGF) that will cover $50/week for all campers. HGF’s continued commitment to making camp affordable for all families is truly amazing. We have readjusted our pricing and discounts, so that when all discounts and the Grinspoon grant have been applied, the camp cost is as low as $290/week. We have additional camperships available from our JCA campership fund that are allocated on a rolling basis. We work hard to make camp affordable for all families, so please contact us if you have any concerns.

We have a few other changes this year, and I just wanted to take a few moments to fill everybody in. This summer, camp will only run for 5 weeks. This is to make sure we have sufficient time to train our staff, even on years when there are excessive numbers of snow days, as many of our staff work within the public school system.

We have also stopped assigning themes to the various weeks of camp. Over the last two summers, we have found that hiring specialists to create high quality programmatic content, and trying also to bend the activities and camp day to reflect particular themes is no longer adding to the fun and quality of Camp Shemesh. Instead, every week will be filled with exciting art, outdoor activities, science, cooking and more.

Once again, we will in be hosting the Tzofim Friendship Caravan during the first week of camp, and we look forward to hosting a new group of teens and getting to know them. The friendships and connections that were formed last year were amazing to watch. If you are interested in hosting an Israeli teen from the Caravan this summer, please keep an eye out for announcements in the JCA Thursday email in the coming months.

Here is a link with more information about the Caravan, http://www.israelscouts.org/on-the-road.

Registration for Camp Shemesh is now open, and space is limited. So register your child now to reserve a spot in your preferred weeks. REGISTER HERE: https://www.regpacks.com/reg/templates/build/?g_id=100901369.

As always, please call or email if you have any questions or concerns about camp this summer.

Chesed Committee

Thank You, Volunteers!

The Chesed Committee thanks all who have recently provided compassionate support to others in the community.

And thanks, again, to everyone who has made a meal, provided a ride, lent a sympathetic ear, visited a person in need of companionship, or performed other acts of chesed (loving kindness).

JCA Hall Gallery

Field of Vision

Landscape Paintings by Gillian Haven

Field of Vision, an exhibition of regional landscape paintings by Pelham artist Gillian Haven will be on view at the JCA Hall Gallery from February 7 through April 29. Gallery Hours are Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday from 10:00 am - 4:00 pm, Friday from 10:00 am - 3:00 pm. The Opening Reception will take place on Thursday, February 7 from 5:00 - 8:00 pm during the Amherst Art Walk.

Artist Statement - We live in a shifting world, each of us stitching together our life story from fleeting moments of illumination and grace. Through the practice of painting I consider this journey. A native of Amherst, I lived in other regions for roughly twenty years but my roots were always here. I was drawn back to the silent companionship of hills, the surprise and elation of water, the clouds that lift, unexpected openings, the sight of livestock in a field. To paint is to pay attention to a place. Painting it, I ponder a relationship that I have taken for granted. The gestures of geography are iconic. I seek to find the landmarks of the region that provide for me a touchstone amidst change. They have a story and continued relevance that we must not lose.

Tikkun Olam Committee

Food Donations at the JCA

Our community continues to show its commitment to Tikkun Olam in the form of food support! In December alone, we donated 204 lbs. of food to the free pantry at the Amherst Survival Center! Way to go, JCA. Non-perishable food items may be donated to the collection box in the outer lobby any time you’re coming to the JCA. Thank you for keeping those in need of food assistance in mind throughout the year.

Craig’s Doors

The JCA gave valuable support to the Craig’s Doors homeless shelter during our volunteer effort between December 22 and January 5. Seventeen members of the JCA signed up and volunteered during the critical period when fewer student volunteers are in town. It was a strong showing for an important cause. Y’ascher k’oãh, JCA!
